11/2/18

Ethan,

How are you doing? I hope everything is going ok.

Before I forget Mom wanted to let you know you have $1,152.03 in savings and $868.98 in checking for now. Please put in your books

It finally stopped raining here. According to the weather report the rain is heading your way. Columbus is flooded in some areas, and the creeks are about to overflow.

I hope you get to write soon we sure miss hearing from you. Matt would like to hear from you also. You already have about 2 weeks over with, soon you will be over basic training. and you will have more free time.

The leaves are falling really fast & with the rain + wind everything is covered with wet leaves. The high today is only going to be 45° for the high. Hi Baby this is mom! How are you I hope fine. Cant wait to get on the road next Sunday the 11th to head to Statesboro ga, to be near you! The doctor called today Dad & I blood work came back all normal, The sore they cut ~~off~~ off my back came back not cancer yeh Dad is going to take out my stitches this afternoon, if he can if not Rachel will. I sure wish we would get some letters from you we miss you so much. Dad is outside taking the leaves off the camper roof and Truck and empting the holding tanks. When we get to Stateboro georgia we will have sewer hook-up so he wont have to do that. Well I guess I'll close for now. I love you Son & miss you but I know your becoming a man now But you'll always be my baby.

Love Mom & Dad
